

The airwaves are public property. Companies, which are allowed to use this valuable property at no cost to themselves, at least owe the public balanced information rather than propaganda. Sinclair should lose its license.